IRELAND AGAINST FISHGUARD

DELEGATION HERE TO ASK FOR QUEENSTOWN MAIL STOP.

Eended by Lord Mayor of Dublin the Memeral Hitchcock to Get Him to Obect to Cunard Line's Arrangment.

That argument has not made a strong appeal to the people of Queenstown who say that their town has suffered severely by reason of the withdrawal of the swift Cunarders. Some prominent Irishmen got hold of Mr. Hitchcock when he was over in Europe, and while t has not come out what he said to them the delegation has come over anyhow, and will call upon him in a day or two. Besides Lord Mayor Doyle, the delegation, which is called the "All Ireland Deputation," includes James Campbell. town clerk of Queenstown; Sir Edward Fitzgerald, former Mayor of Cork; Sir lames Long, chairman of the Cork Harbor board, and William Donnegan, a member of that board; W. A. Lindsay of the Belfast Chamber of Commerce; Maher Loughman, a hotel keeper of Killarney; E. J. Long of Limerick, and Charles O'Callaghan, J. P., a member of the town council of Queenstown. Most of the delegation wore green

Most of the delegation wore green hats and smoked cutty pipes as the Oceanie came up from Quarantine yesterday morning, but the Lord Mayor wore a cap He also wore, as he landed, a heavy gold chain, which is said to be a sort of badge of office. If any one is curious to see a Lord Mayor in the flesh he is apt to be gratified by taking a stroll through the corridor of the Hoffman House, but it is difficult to get hold of his Worship because he annexed a secretary and sort of majordomo after he got here, and the latter hedged his patron about with some of the mystery and state that is some of the mystery and state that popularly supposed to surround an East Indian potentate.

In the register the Lord Mayor put himself down as "Michael Doyle, Lord Mayor, Mansion House," and it had to be explained that the Mansion House, was in Dublin and the official regidence. was in Dublin and the official residence of the Lord Mayor, and was not the Brook-lyn hotel of that name. After some pre-liminaries, such as a desire to know how the reporter pronounced his name, whether he wanted to talk about Irish politics and just what he wanted to ask his Worship, and so on, it was announced that the Lord Mayor was ready to submit to the ordea!

On the contrary, the mails have been very seriously delayed, and the commercial interests of Ireland have accordingly. I can say with y that the commercial classes of who are in a position to judge in the matter strongly protest against the action of the Cunard company in treating the interests of Ireland from very standpoint as secondary, and that the reasons given for the change are not beene out by the results, because it has seen clearly established that Queenstown is the most convenient port for the dis-

The outbuildings on the farm of form hose noted on Tuesday. For one thing reports received by commission houses here alluded to a gloomy outlook in Arkansas, Georgia and the Carolinus. The Commissioner of Agriculture for Georgia stated that the crop there would not exceed 1,300,000 bales. All these advices coupled with what have been received before were naturally calculated to gain new adherents to the belief that the monthly report to be issued by the Agricultural Department on Monday will be a decidedly bulls a statement. The general spread of this belief in all sections of the country is generally thought to be mainly responsible for the conspicuous increase in buying orders from the outside public. All commission houses and Wall Street firms had heavy orders to buy, and their execution forced prices at one time to levels 17 to 31 points higher than the previous close.

In fact so urgent was the demand that the market absorbed enormous long lines thrown over for the purpose of taking in profits. But while executing these orders to sell brokers were receiving buying orders from all sides, and hence the backward reactions caused by the huge selling were of decidedly brief duration and generally amounted to only 5 or 6 points.
